

The Orangeburg Civic Ballet was originally established in 1993 with 14 dancers and has expanded to over 100 dancers per show. The company delivers professional quality performances that consist of performers ranging in age from four to adult. The company consists of their own costume committee that designs and creates handmade costumes and a professional stage crew that constructs and provides lighting and sets for each show.

The Orangeburg Civic Ballet endeavors to bring cultural enrichment to Orangeburg County and the surrounding community by providing a performing outlet for dancers and cultivating a public awareness and appreciation of the arts. The company strives to further educate young dancers, provide cultural experiences to local schools, and to offer a repertoire of original and classical works within the community.

How does dance benefit your students?

In a national sample of 25,000 students, those students "with high levels of arts-learning experiences" earned higher grades and scored better on standardized tests than those with little or no involvement in the arts-regardless of socioeconomic status.

Our performances relate to the South Carolina Visual and Performing Arts Standards. Each production provides a live depiction of a particular time period in history, giving your students a fun and entertaining lesson, ranging from politics, music, fashion, dance, customs, religion, and much more.
